In November

3 set for national event

By BLAIR SMITH

In November, Appomattox will be represented by three excellent 4-H'ers in Chicago at National 4-H Congress. The three 4-H'ers are David Caldwell, Jr., Lisa Moore, and Susan Parris.

David Caldwell, Jr., is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D.R. Caldwell of Appomattox. David won in the area of Public Speaking at the state level. David has participated in many areas of 4-H such as public speaking, demonstrations, share-the-fun, interstate exchange trips, and has completed many 4-H projects. David has participated in the State 4-H Electric Congress and in National 4-H Citizenship Short Course in Washington, D.C. David has also represented the State of Virginia during Kentucky State 4-H Week. He is a member of the Virginia 4-H All Stars.

Lisa Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude A. Moore of Appomattox, won a trip to National 4-H Congress in the area of achievement. Lisa has also been very active with public speaking, demonstrations, meats identification, workshops and 4-H project work. Lisa was a member of the State winning 4-H Meats Team in 1978. She has also participated in a State Share-the-Fun program. Lisa is a member of the Virginia Chapter of 4-H All Stars.

Susan Parris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R.B. Parris, Jr., of Appomattox, won in the area of leadership at the state level. Susan has been active in public speaking, demonstrations, poster contests, clinics and project work. Susan is a member of the Virginia 4-H All Stars. She has served as a teen leader at 4-H Camp for four years and has assisted with the conducting of numerous workshops to assist younger 4-H'ers.

This is the first time Appomattox has sent three people to National 4-H Congress. We wish them all the best of luck.
